BRITAIN TO INCREASE FIRST LINE STRENGTH OF AIR FORCE

Industry Capable Of Producing 40,000 Machines Yearly

Two 35,000-Ton Battleships To Be Launched Shortly

London, November 6.
THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT IS EXPECTED TO ANNOUNCE this week its intention to increase the first line strength of the home air force from 2,750 to between 4,000 and 5,000, states the "Sunday Times" air correspondent who says that the decision will involve the expansion of the aircraft industry to a point at which it will be capable of producing between 35,000 and 45,000 machines yearly.

Before the end of the month the rate of production will be increased by about 50 per cent and will continue to increase until 1940 when the full war potential will be reached.

In addition, Britain's defences will be strengthened by two first full-sized battleships designed since the Great War. These are each of 35,000 tons, carry ten 14-inch guns and are capable of a speed of over 30 knots. They will be launched early in the new year.

—Reuter.
Transocean adds that the battleships will be named King George and Prince of Wales.

Mighty Air Fleet For U.S. Army

Washington, Nov. 6.
It is learned in administrative circles that President Roosevelt definitely intends to ask Congress to authorize one of the world's mightiest air fleets for the United States Army, numbering between 7,000 to 10,000 aircraft.

The President's fargoing plans to strengthen defence include full equipment as quickly as possible for the nucleus of an army of at least 400,000, according to reliable reports.

The estimated programme involves an outlay for 1939 exceeding this year's military appropriations by well over $300,000,000.
The plan is also understood to provide for the acquisition of war reserves for a force of a million men able to take the field within a few months in the event of war. —Reuter.

The position given is on a planned course for the aircraft.
A later message reports that the Number One, after flying about 12 hours, was about 170 miles southwest of Karachi, 110 miles south of Ormara, Baluchistan, and about 2,080 miles from Ismailia. The air speed is 160 miles an hour.

Jerusalem, Nov. 6.
THE IMPROVEMENT IN THE PALESTINE SITUATION which has taken place since the Army assumed virtual control is already so evident that the measures are regarded here as justified.

It is still too early to predict the complete crushing of the rebellion, but the occupation of main towns and picketing of villages is preventing gangs from concentrating. —Reuter.

STATEMENT ON POLICY

London, Nov. 6.
It is expected that the Secretary for Colonies, Mr. Malcolm MacDonald, will make a statement on the British Government's policy regarding Palestine in the House of Commons either on Wednesday or Thursday next.

It is anticipated that the report of the Woodhead Commission will be available to members of the House of Commons at the same time. —Reuter.

Junk Piracy In Chinese Waters

MEN ARMED WITH RIFLES

The piracy of a small Chinese sailing-boat, carrying its master, Lam Yan-shun, and a crew of nine, originally reported to have taken place east of Nine Pins, in British waters, is now believed to have taken place six miles west of Fukien-tao, in Chinese waters.

The boat, according to the story of the master, was approached by a small black vessel of the Hoklo type, with one sail, from a north-easterly direction.

A rifle shot was fired at Lam's boat and the pirate vessel then came alongside when it was revealed that there were five men on board, three of them armed with rifles and the other two with knives.

The pirate vessel removed from Lam's boat 44 bags of wolfram ore, of 60 catties weight each, also taking one dollar in money and other articles.

INFLUX OF REFUGEES INTO MACAO

Shekki Bombed: Portuguese Aid Wounded Civilians

(SPECIAL TO THE "HONGKONG DAILY PRESS")
FIGHTING BETWEEN CHINESE AND JAPANESE TROOPS AT Talleung, Shekki bombed, and a reign of terror in the Chungshan District. (These were the reports told foreigners by Chinese refugees fleeing into Macao over the 38-mile Portuguese Colony, according to a highway between Shekki and a visitor who arrived from Macao during the week-end.)

News reached Macao on Friday morning, with a sudden influx of refugees, that communication between Canton and Shekki had been interrupted as the result of clashes between Chinese and enemy troops at Talleung, a town situated 25 miles south of the City of Rams. Thousands of non-combatants are thus cut off from their only means of reaching Canton overland and proceeding to safety in Macao.

It was also learned from information reaching the Portuguese Colony on Friday that Shekki, a non-militarised town, had been visited and bombed by Japanese planes. The enemy followed up their destructive attacks by strafing the town streets with their machine-guns. Casualties were believed to have run over the 200 mark.

Soon after news of the Shekki bombing reached Macao, a small group of Portuguese set out for the Chungshan town on an errand of mercy. The wounded were brought into the Portuguese Colony for medical aid. It should be noted that all casualties were civilians.

INFLUX OF REFUGEES

The influx of refugees into Macao continues but movement along the Kei Kwan highway connecting Shekki and the Portuguese Colony is only being conducted after nightfall. Japanese planes have been flying over the Chungshan District regularly during the past week and indulging in their pastime of strafing the motor-road.

As a result, few refugees attempt the passage between Shekki and Canton during the day, the flow into Macao being resumed daily after sunset.

Thousands have been getting across the Chungshan District since the fall of Canton. The Kei Kwan motor buses are arriving in Macao in ten-minute intervals, packed with all classes of Chinese with their loose belongings.

Hundreds daily are unable to find means of transportation and these have been trekking in with whole families. Many of the children passing into Macao through the Porta Cerco, the Portuguese boundary gate, have swollen feet as a result of their long walks.

INDESCRIBABLE SCENES

The Kei Kwan motor terminus in Macao is at the Macao Inner Harbour waterfront and the scenes there every night are indescribable. (Continued on Page 9)

AL FRESCO FETE GREAT SUCCESS

Governor Urges Public To Spend Money In Noble Cause

MANY ATTRACTIONS

The 55th annual Al Fresco Fete in aid of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul was held yesterday on the plot of open ground separated from the Peninsula Hotel by Nathan Road.

The Fete was opened at 3 p.m. and remained open until after 11 p.m. during which time the raffle was drawn.

His Excellency the Governor, who was accompanied by Lady Northcote, was welcomed on his arrival by the President of Society, Mr. H. Dixon.

Mr. Dixon, in addressing His Excellency and the many guests and visitors present, recalled the last two occasions when the Fete was honoured by a visit from a Governor of the Colony. Sir Reginald Stubbs had visited the Fete in 1924 or 1925, and Sir Claude Severn a few years later.

Mr. Dixon spoke of the indebtedness of the Society to Mr. H. S. Rouse, of the P.W.D., and to Mr. J. H. Taggart, of the Peninsula Hotel, to whose good offices on their behalf the Society owed the allotment to their use for the Fete of the vacant plot of ground.

Since, in 1932, Government forbade the motor-car lottery, the Society had not been able to raise as much money annually as they were formerly able to. However, with the proceeds from the Fair and from the Rose Day Sale on December 1 the Society hoped to be able to raise this year a sum of from nine to ten thousand dollars.

His Excellency in his speech touched on the part the Colony was playing in the present conflict in the Far East—the part of Good Samaritan to the many refugees who have sought shelter in Hongkong. His Excellency urged the public to spend their money in this noble cause of charity, declaring the Fete open.

To the music of the band of the Aberdeen Industrial School the crowd of Fete visitors then dispersed to every corner of the grounds, seeking such amusement as would appeal to them.

Judgment For Defendants
In Possession Case

SUMMARY COURT CLAIM ENDS

At the Summary Court on Friday Mr. Justice E. H. Williams, Acting Police Judge, delivered judgment in favour of the defendants, with costs, in the case in which Mrs. Tse, Luk-mui claimed possession of premises, namely No. 39 Gilman Bazaar, from Messrs. Shing Shun Firm.

Plaintiff was represented by Mr. W. A. Mackinlay while Mr. E. S. C. Brooks was for the defendant.

This is the usual claim for possession of premises viz. No. 39 Gilman Bazaar, ground floor of which plaintiff is the owner and defendants are (lunar) monthly tenants. The defendants resist the claim inter alia on the grounds that the premises are a dwelling house and come within the provisions of the Prevention of Eviction Ordinance 1938.

At the first hearing plaintiff and one other witness gave evidence of a nature usual in such cases on which I need not now comment in view of the submissions made by defendant's solicitor at the close of the plaintiff's case. That submission was that there had been a waiver by the plaintiff of the notice to quit because of the following circumstances which it is necessary to get out in detail.

On May 9 plaintiff wrote to the defendants informing them that the rent would be increased by $20 as from May 29. Though insufficient notice had been given defendants paid an increase of $15. On July 22 on instructions from the plaintiff, her solicitors wrote to defendants requiring them to give up possession on August 24 (the last day of the 7th moon). Defendants did not quit but on their instructions their solicitors wrote on August 22 to plaintiff's solicitors stating defendants would not give up possession because the premises were used partly as a dwelling house. They intimated they had directions to accept service of any proceedings which might be instituted against their clients. On Saturday, August 27 they forwarded to solicitors for plaintiff a cheque for $85, stating, 'Further to our letter of the 22nd we enclose herewith our cheque for $85 being rent of the above premises from the 1st day to the last day of the Intercalary 7th moon.' That period was for August 25 to September 23. The cheque was not returned but was retained by the solicitors and no written acknowledgment of its receipt was sent. On September 2 solicitors for defendants mentioning a conversation of the previous day and added, 'We confirm that we have now received instructions to issue a writ for possession of the premises.' It was not claimed at the hearing of the case that the conversation on September 1 concerned the cheque for the rent. There was further correspondence on September 3 regarding the possibility of the case being taken in the Summary Court and the solicitors formed the opinion that as the actual rent was $80 and $5 was the charge for water the case was triable in the Summary Court. The writ was issued on September 12.

POINT OF WAIVER

The case was adjourned after the first hearing for argument on the point of waiver and at the next hearing numerous cases were quoted on both sides. I must content myself with commenting on a few of the more important cases.

Solicitors for the plaintiff contended firstly that payment by cheque could not be considered as a proper payment of rent; rent should be paid in cash. He referred to Halsbury's Laws (Hall-sham Ed.) Vol. 20, p. 188, 181 and Henderson v. Arthur (1907) 1 K.B. 10. This case when examined does not support his contention. That was an action by a lessor against a lessee for a quarter's rent on a covenant in the lease for payment of rent quarterly in advance. The lessee set up the defence of a parol agreement between the lessor and himself antecedent to the execution of the lease that the lessor had agreed to take a bill payable at 3 months by way of payment of each quarter rent as it became due. It was held that evidence of such an agreement was inadmissible. There is a great difference between a payment by cheque and payment by a bill payable at a fixed period after date. I hold that the payment by cheque was a proper payment of the rent in this case. It is in the ordinary course of business to make such payments by cheque.

The second and main contention for the plaintiff was that there was here no waiver by the non-return of the cheque. The cheque was sent on August 27—a Saturday and therefore probably received on August 29. Instructions had to be taken from their client and defendants' solicitors were notified on September 2 that a writ was to issue. This was tantamount to a refusal to accept the cheque. Assuming there was acceptance then the mere acceptance of it for such a period was not itself a waiver of the notice but matter of evidence only and it was clear from the evidence that the landlord had no intention of creating a new tenancy. Doe v. Batten 98 E. R. 1066 and Davies v. Bristow 123 L.T.R. 655 were the main authorities to support this view. The heading to the former case reads, 'Mere acceptance of rent by a landlord for occupation subsequent to the time when the tenant ought to have quitted according to the notice given him for the purpose is not in itself a waiver on the part of the landlord of such notice but matter of evidence only to be left to the jury.' In this case tried in 1975 the landlord had received rent after the defendant had appeared and pleaded. Lord Mansfield there stated that if there was a doubt whether the fraud or in consequence of a new agreement or whether the possession was by acceptance of the rent was mutually intended or understood was a waiver it was a fact which ought to be left to a jury to determine.

AUTHORITIES QUOTED
The second case Davies v. Bristow came before a Divisional Court on appeal 3 months after the case of Hartell v. Blackler 123 L.T.R. 171 had come before the same Court. Hartell v. Blackler was strongly relied on by solicitor for the defendant as supporting his contention of a waiver. There defendant was in occupation of a cottage owned by plaintiff at a weekly rent of 4s.

"TWO-MAN ACT"

Pickpockets Succeed

A two-man pickpocket act was staged in broad daylight outside the Hongkong Hotel at about 11 o'clock yesterday morning. The victim, a visitor from Macao, found his passage along the pavement suddenly blocked by a coolie stooping down to scratch his toes. While the former hesitated and contemplated which side to pass, a push from behind bumped him against the man in front. In that short space of time, the Macao visitor's pen was lifted from his breast pocket and the coolie, dressed in a white singlet and black trousers, took to his heels and dodged into the crowd in Des Voeux Road Central, where he soon disappeared.

A report of this incident was made at the Central Police Station.

He was given notice to quit, but on the expiry refused to give up possession. Subsequently on several occasions he tendered to plaintiff rent accrued since the date of expiry in the hope that plaintiff would accept it but plaintiff always declined. Eventually defendant wrote her a letter saying, 'I enclose $s. rent which was refused.' Plaintiff sent on the letter and enclosure to her solicitors who replied to the defendant. 'Mrs. Hartell does not recognise you as her tenant and we will retain the P.O. for the time on account of use and occupation and not as rent.' The plaintiff brought action in the County Court but lost and on appeal the judges treating it as a common law question held they were bound by the opinion of the eight judges who constituted the majority of the judges consulted by the House of Lords, in the case of Croft v. Lunley 6 H.L.C. 672 and they dismissed the appeal.

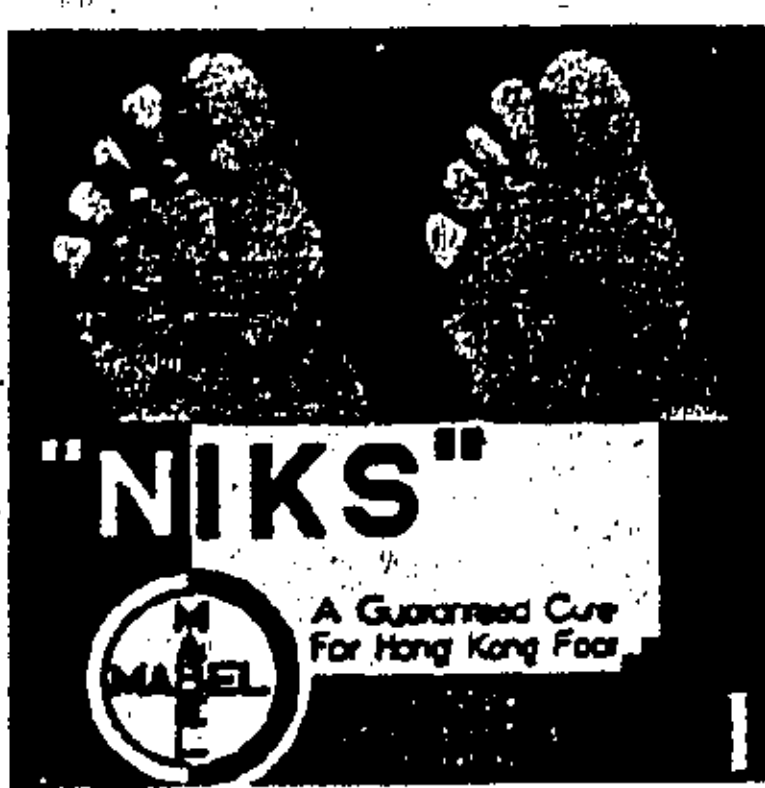

In Davies v. Bristow the defendant was tenant to plaintiff of a house at a yearly rent of $45. Plaintiff gave him notice to quit at midsummer 1919 but defendant did not give up possession. Plaintiff then thinking he was entitled to do so under Sec. 1 of the Increase of Rent etc. Act 1919 (which section had not yet come into operation) gave defendant notice of his intention to increase the rent by 10 per cent adding that if defendant was willing to pay the increased rent he might remain on but that if he was not willing to do so he must give up possession by Michaelmas. At that quarter-day defendant tendered the quar-

Roberts Bankruptcy
Application AdjournedCourt Against Receiver On Point Of Onus Of Proof

An application by the Official Receiver, Mr. L. R. Andrews, for proof of a debt involving an Indian money-lender, Kartar Singh, to be expunged from the records of the Court, in connection with the bankruptcy of Mr. Archibald Hynes Roberts, was made before the Acting Chief Justice, Mr. Justice R. E. Lindsell, in Bankruptcy at the Supreme Court on Saturday.

Kartar Singh was represented by Mr. C. A. Sutherland.

In support of his application, Mr. Andrews stated that an order had been granted to the court for certain money-lending transactions involving the bankrupt to be reopened and to require money-lenders concerned to furnish the facts of the original loans. Kartar Singh, one of the judgment creditors, however, had not only failed to comply fully with the order, but had been unable to decide how much the bankrupt really owed him, the latter having stated that he had in fact been fully repaid.

Mr. Andrews submitted that the onus was on Kartar Singh to justify his claim. The original debt was stated to be $3,660.60. This was reduced to $1,500, but the creditor could not even justify this amount.

Mr. C. A. S. Russ submitted that the application was an extraordinary one. Kartar Singh, he said, was judgment creditor for the amount claimed, the judgments being obtained not by default but by consent, the bankrupt being represented by a solicitor.

PROCEDURE OF TRUSTEE

The right procedure of the Official Receiver as Trustee, stated Mr. Russ was first to examine the proof and then to admit or reject it wholly or partly, before applying for the debt to be expunged.

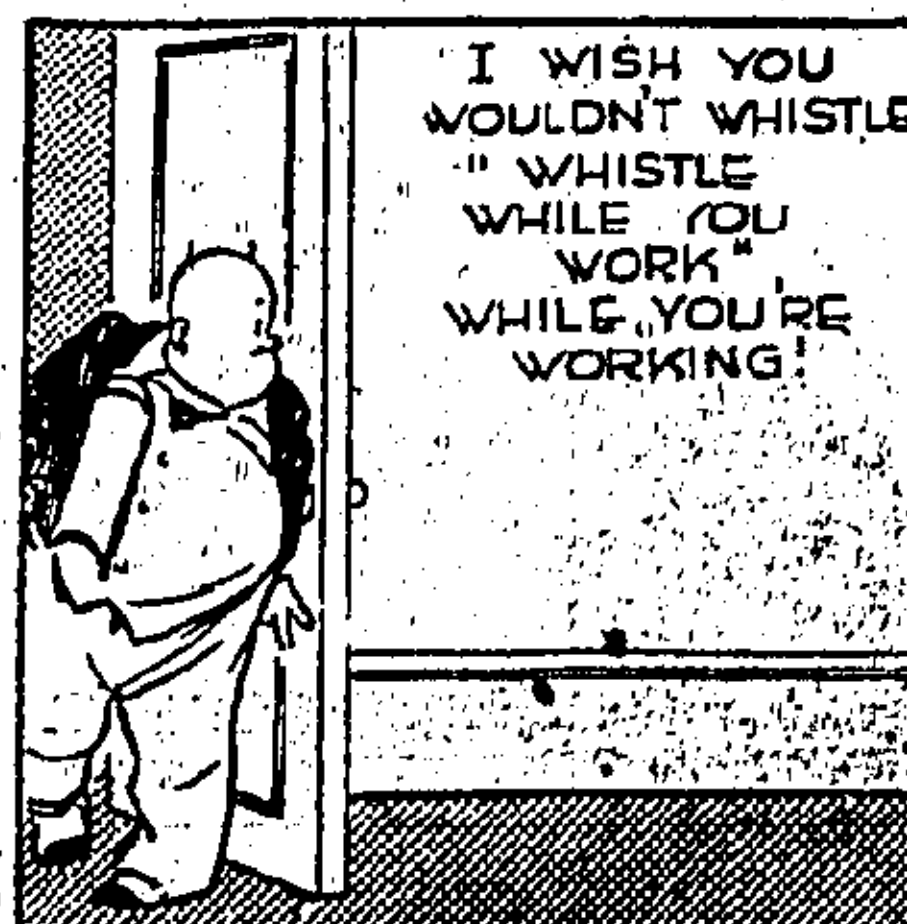

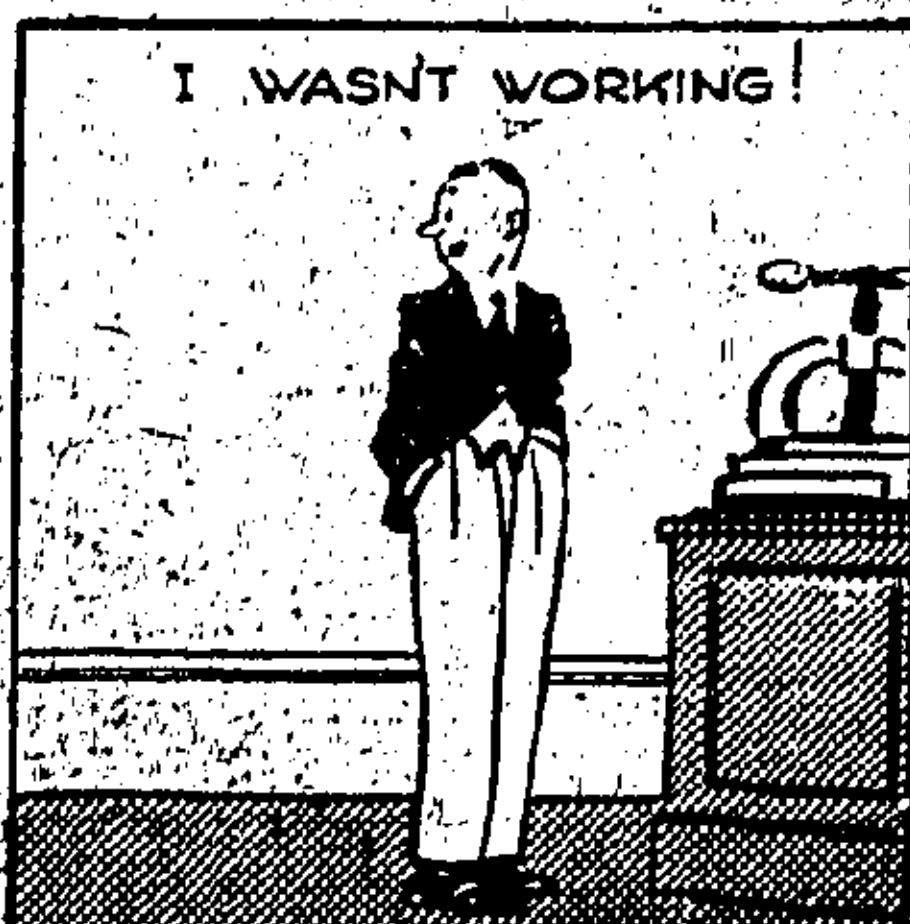

The proof had neither been admitted or rejected, therefore, submitted Mr. Russ, the application for expunging the debt was not within jurisdiction.

Mr. Andrews replied that the present proceedings did not touch the judgment. The proceedings were re-opened by an order made by the Court and the trustee was allowed to go behind the judgment and inquire into the transactions. The creditor had failed to support his claim and therefore the trustee applied for the proof to be expunged.

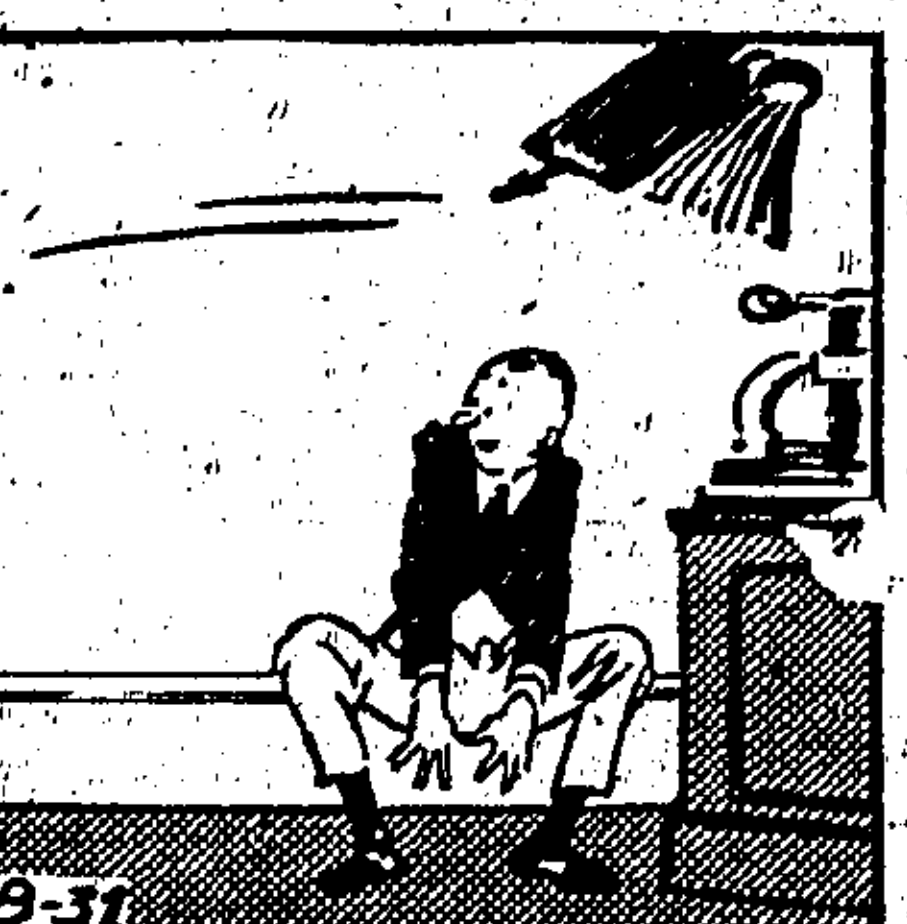

His Lordship ruled that the onus was on the Official Receiver to establish that the transaction was one to be re-opened. The debtor could be called to give evidence.

The case was adjourned to December 3.

NEW POLISH CONSULATE

Shanghai, Nov. 6.

The Chinese Foreign Office in Chungking has received from the Polish Government a statement regarding the decision of the Polish Government to open a Consulate in Manchukuo.

Chinese reports state that the Polish note itself declared that Poland did not intend this step to imply recognition of Manchukuo by Poland. The creation of a Polish Consulate had been arranged by agreement with Manchukuo merely in order to afford protection to Polish subjects living in Manchukuo.

NEW MOTOR VESSEL FOR SERVICE IN PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

LAUNCHING CEREMONY AT KOWLOON DOCKS

795th Ship Constructed

MRS. M. E. CLELAND OFFICIATES

THE SEVEN HUNDRED AND NINETY-FIFTH VESSEL to be constructed by the Hongkong and Whampoa Dock Company Limited at their Kowloon Docks was launched on Saturday afternoon, the christening ceremony being performed in traditional manner by Mrs. M. E. Cleland, the wife of Mr. M. E. Cleland, Junior, Superintendent Engineer of La Mavieta Filipina Incorporated, Cebu, Philippine Islands, owners of the vessel.

THE NEW SHIP, WHICH WAS NAMED ELICANO, is a single screw motor cargo and passenger vessel of about 1,500 gross tonnage and her length over-all is 221 feet 6 inches. When completed the Elcano will be used for service in the Philippine Islands.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Head Office of the Kowloon Docks.

Proposing a toast to the success of the Elcano and the health and happiness of Mrs. Cleland, Mr. E. L. Hosie, C. A., Acting Chief Manager, said that in spite of the fact it was incumbent that the launching be held on Saturday afternoon owing to the tide, Mrs. Cleland had graciously started the new ship on its career.

NINTH SHIP

Continuing, Mr. Hosie said that the Elcano was the second ship the Kowloon Docks had launched within three months and it was the ninth ship to the built at the Kowloon Docks for Don Ramon Abotez, of Naviera Filipina Inc.

Mr. Hosie added that the ship had excellent passenger accommodation and would carry 1,000 tons of cargo. The new vessel would travel between Manila and Polo and he hoped that the Elcano would be found very suitable and that Mr. Cleland would return in a few months time and order a larger vessel. (Laughter and applause.)

Mr. Hosie concluded by thanking Mrs. Cleland for so graciously performing the ceremony, and presented her with a diamond brooch and silver wallet.

Replying, Mr. M. E. Cleland, Jr., said that he was sure that the Elcano would be no exception to her sister ship, the Legazpi, which had proved to be one of the most popular tourist ships and he stated this because of proven facts. The Elcano will occupy the whole of the fortnight in the journey with the exception of a short stay at Manila. The Elcano would run down to the southern part of the Mindanao and thus would give the tourist an insight into the life of the Moro.

In conclusion, Mr. Cleland said that he felt sure the Company would be fully satisfied with the new ship and that he would return for another order. (Applause.)

Romance Of The Western Chamber—A Critique

SPECIAL TO THE "HONGKONG DAILY PRESS"

A FAMOUS RUSSIAN THEATRICAL PRODUCER once stated, "It is only in the Chinese Theatre that I have found the fundamental laws of the Theatre." His name was Meyerhold whose contribution to the Russian and Western Theatres lies in the bio-mechanical method of training of his actors and the constructivist elements of his stage craft.

This producer told me once, "I see the Chinese drama as a succession of definite pictures, or cadres such as make up a moving picture on a screen. On the Chinese stage there is no time or space. Now the scene is in the courtyard—the actor walks round the stage—and he is inside the audience chamber of the palace.

At another time he is standing on the ground—he makes a pirouette and he is on horseback moving at full gallop across the plains. Or he mounts a chair—and he is at his headquarters on the top of a mountain directing his troops." And then I listened in on a conversation which the Meyerhold had with Mei Lan-fang.

"MEANS OF SYMBOLS"

"Do I understand aright?" he asked, "when I say that in the Chinese Theatre the audience is attuned to the actor on the stage?" "Quite correct," replied Mei Lan-fang. "The actor, by means of symbols, gestures, movements and by the use of simple accessories, gives a series of clues to the members of the audience so that they can see at once in their mind's eye the exact place in which the action is taking place. Thus doing away with the need for scenery.

"Bringing a horse on the stage is cumbersome, inconvenient, expensive and to say the least of it, highly childish. So the actor in order to give the audience the clue that he is mounting a horse will take a fringed whip in his hand.

"It is the actor's skill that the Chinese audience goes to the Classical Theatre to see. They do not want to be bothered with painted scenery—which is bad painting. Nor fake properties. They can see these things in their own houses or on the street without going to the Theatre to see them."

LESS CRITICAL

In looking at the actors and actresses at the Queen's Theatre in "The Romance of the Western Chamber" I found myself inclined to be less critical than I would be at a Chinese Theatre. Firstly because of the audience. And secondly because I went to "hear" the play and not to "see" it.

Theatrical art is as hard a one to master as any other. And in watching the movements of the actors (in the brief intervals when I was not watching the audience and listening to the words of the play) I remembered the words of a very famous American actor who once watched a Chinese player.

He said, "The Chinese actor's use of his hands makes me want to put mine behind my back." In other words, the Chinese actor must act not only with his gestures, but with his eyes, his hands, and even his fingers. The rhythm of movement in a Chinese actor must be carried through from his feet to his head and through the whole of his body to the very tips of his fingers.

It takes years of training to achieve perfection of a Mei Lan-fang and a professional knowledge that a slightly bent fore-finger conveys the symbol the "lady is agitated or angry."

"TECHNIQUE"

In the course of time English audiences in Hongkong will be more critical of the "technique" of the actors. But this will be after they have learnt the simple lessons of the Chinese Theatre and are able to discern when the actor enters a room by lifting his foot over the threshold. The opening of a door is simpler. Or when an immortal spirit comes on the stage—symbolised by the flowing white beard that he must wear.

By watching the audience I saw the things that interested them. The costumes were beautiful. The lute carrier was excellent. With white painted nose this was a comic character. The natural grace in the movements of the Chinese on the stage gave me pause to remind myself of the spinster in England who once insisted that her Chinese ward should "learn deportment."

THE REAL SUCCESS

The language of the play was the real success of the evening of cultural rapprochement between the predominantly English and Chinese which made up the audience. Such a translation of a Chinese 13th century play by a Chinese into English gives a dream poem to men and women of culture. That Chinese youth could act the play puts to shame those of the English section of the audience who do not even know how to say "yes" or "no" in Chinese.

Far less to be able to cry "good" at the places where the actor excels himself, as is the custom in a Chinese Theatre. To some the style of declamation may have seemed stilted and staccato. But even there the players imparted the rhythm of the theatrical speech, "which is that of the theatre and not of natural life."

Natural life! And that is the real lesson of the "Romance of the Western Chamber." It is that the Chinese Theatre is still progressive in its abhorrence of "naturalism" in the Theatre. At one time on the French stage people drank real wine in plays, ate "real apples." And sometimes even to-day (at Drury Lane) they have real horses and motor cars on the stage.

FRENCH INFLUENCE

The theatre of Shakespeare of the sixteenth century was a theatre of "realism" and was as fresh as the Chinese stage is to-day. Influences from France brought the decadence of "naturalism" which found the actors, producers, bound

TREATIES TO BE RESCINDED

Japan's Latest In East Asia

Tokio, November 6.

All existing international treaties by which the Far East is treated as having the status of a colony are to be subjected to a close scrutiny, it was stated in a semi-official Japanese declaration on Saturday.

This step is considered here to be equivalent to a Japanese demand of "reorganisation in East Asia." Among those treaties to be examined in this way will be the Nine Power Pact, and it is generally believed that this Pact will be rescinded in the near future.

In political circles in Tokio, the Japanese state point is interpreted to be that a peaceful solution of the conflict with China will be impossible as long as Third States exercise political influence in East Asia. Solution of the present conflict is only possible through the operation of all states of the East—Transocean.

In by theatrical conventions which forced him to try to reproduce "natural life" on the stage, where scenery had to be like photograph. The artistry of the actor was lost in the distraction of the bad paintings that made up the scenery.

The seventeenth century found the Manchu dynasty in the saddle in China. Chinese art degenerated and the Drama was kept alive solely by the devotion of the "lower classes," who in village and in market place thronged the auditorium whenever the mummies appeared. The cultural standard was low.

The actors were badly rewarded and the art might have died had it not been for the stern criticism of the Chinese theatre-goer who never hesitated to throw a hot towel at the head of a clumsy actor, or to shout down a bad singer whose voice fitted him better to be a masseur than a singer of operas on the Chinese stage.

GENERALISSIMO TO DIRECT OPERATIONS

Canton Troops To Join Counter-Offensive RECAPTURE OF CANTON DECLARED OBJECT

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Yungyuan, November 5.

GENERALISSIMO CHIANG KAI-SHEK is reported to have arrived at certain point to direct operation for the recovery of Canton, and many Cantonese troops are moving back to join the counter-offensive, having distinguished themselves in the Yangtze River.

Large numbers of Chinese troops are massed at Kwong Ning in North-east Kwangtung, ready to stage the attack with Canton as their objective. Another Chinese base of operation is located somewhere near Hingling on the East River with Pokio and Tsengshing as the points of attack.

Kwangsi troops are reported to have taken part in recovering Samshui, an important town on the West River, which fell into the hands of a small detachment of Japanese troops, and a large group of ronins. The Chinese troops will continue the advance, and a big battle is expected west of Fatsan.

GENERALS ACTIVE

General Li Chai-sum, former military head of Kwangtung, has left Wuchow for an undisclosed point to participate in a military conference for the defence of Kwangtung.

Generals Li Tsung-jen and Pui Hsueh-hsi, who are somewhere in Hunan, will shortly fly to Nanning or Wuchow to mobilize the troops to Kwangtung.

Kwangsi units passed through Yuehsing and Shihing to-day en route down the West River, their exact strength being about 50,000. Kwangsi leaders recognize that were Kwangtung overrun by the Japanese, Kwangsi would share the same fate. Hence a large number of Kwangsi troops have entrenched at strategic points in their province and will give battle.

SAMSHUI IS RETAKEN

Shanghai, November 6. CHINESE TROOPS in the province of Kwangsi have, at an order from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, begun the march on Canton and on Saturday occupied Samshui, about 50 kilometres north of Canton, state reports from a Chinese source. —Transocean.

JAPANESE IMPERIALISM IS DENOUNCED

French Appeal To America To Form Front

Paris, November 6. Emerging more and more into the foreground of political discussion in the French capital is the question as to whether it will be possible for the three big powers, Great Britain, France and the United States of America to form a common front against Japan.

In a leading article on Saturday evening, "Le Temps" expressed profound concern over Prince Konoye's recent pronouncement. The formulation chosen by the Japanese statesman, writes the paper, might make possible the creation among the yellow races of national mysticism.

The truth of the matter, however, is that it is a question of replacing Occidental imperialism by Japanese imperialism.

DEATH OF MR. CONWAY TEARLE

Well-known On Stage And Screen

Conway Tearle, long a favourite on the English and American stages and later a picture player died on October 1 in St. Vincent's Hospital, Los Angeles, California.

He was 60 years of age, and was a member of an English acting family whose tradition is almost as great as that of the Barrymore family in America. Surviving him is his widow, the former Adele Rowland, herself a noted figure in the entertainment world.

Although born in New York in 1878, Conway Tearle spent most of his early life in England, and it was in London that he scored his first success on the stage. With his brother, Godfrey Tearle, also an English actor of note, he was educated in England, his success there finally bringing him a bid from America.

After many stage hits he entered the motion picture field in 1914.

With the advent of talking pictures, Conway Tearle's success waned, but a few years ago he started a "comeback" and was a hit in both the stage and screen version of "Dinner at Eight."

which is being held up to scorn.

Prince Konoye condemns international treaties because they seek to maintain status quo. The question, as far as Japan is concerned, is the creation of a big Asiatic bloc.

This confronts the Occidental powers with an entirely new problem whereby Japan hopes to turn to its own advantage the rivalries existing between the yellow and white races.

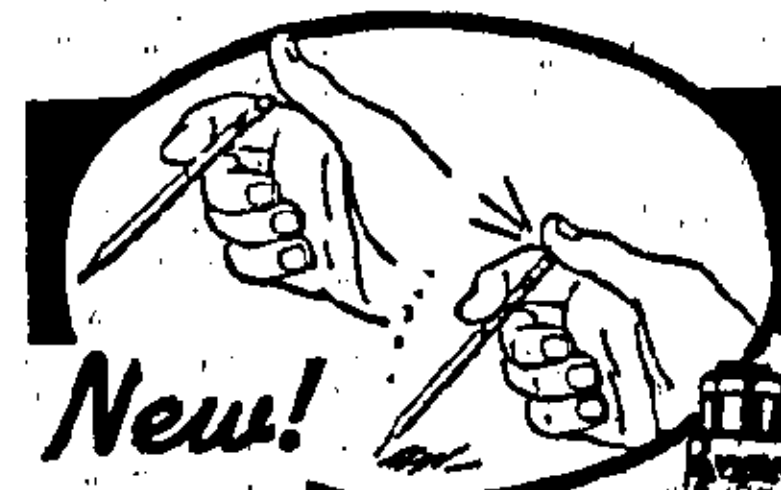

QUESTION OF SOLIDARITY

The question is whether the solidarity of the peoples of the white race is less than that of the people of the yellow race.

If Japan has been able within the space of a few years to establish its domination on the continent, from "Manchukuo" to Hankow, and from Shanghai to Canton, it is primarily only because Europe has been torn by internal disputes and because the United States, hoping to steer clear of international conflict, has failed to understand how to act in an anti-movement in full solidarity with other interested big powers against the daring enterprises of Japanese imperialism.

The paper then made an appeal to the United States to come out and lend support to the common front.

Incidentally, much interest was created in political circles here by the visit of Dr. Wellington Koo to the French Foreign Office last Friday. —Transocean.

My NERVES are much STEADIER than they were before" writes Mr. M. L. Cape Town, S.A.

Kalzana is a remarkable food containing no drugs whatsoever. In hot countries one's diet and the extent to which one perspires tend to decrease the mineral contents of the body. Many complaints such as irritability, high blood pressure, dizziness, acidity, which are so often ascribed to "the climate" are due largely to this loss of minerals.

When you do not feel as well as you should, start taking Kalzana tablets. They will soon put you right.

Heavy Eastern Gold And Silver Jewellery Vogue

Feathers A Popular Headgear At The Race Meeting

(By ROZANNE)

So winter has more or less come upon us. Although on second thoughts it really is rather "less" than "more," but undeterred we women are getting a kick out of our more wintry garments, which was obvious when I went to watch the mokes racing on Saturday. I was particularly interested in trimmings, bags, hats and novelties, which are certainly original and attractive.

Feathers, large, soft, hardened, curling, are all popular for headgear as you shall see. Mrs. Dunbar had two dear little furred feathers tucked in the turned up brim of her French Blue hat and I greatly admired her Tonkinese beaded-silver bracelets, clips and brooch. Heavy eastern gold and silver jewellery is all the vogue just now and looks well with all colours.

A curling brown ostrich feather lay on one side of Mrs. Hogg's brown felt and it gave just that chic note to a severely tailored green suit. Mrs. Sargent sported a mammoth brown feather based with little brilliant soft feathers on her Robin Hood headcovering.

Two Dodwell sisters, Miss Diana and Miss Pat, also wore a tall feather each in their Bavarian style hatting. These long feathers have a most dashing air. Mrs. Donovan who wore a rust shade had a round ball of massed baby feathers perched in the front of her brown felt hat, and I was most intrigued by the embroidered cows' heads on her wide leather belt.

Yet another form of feather trimming was chosen by Mrs. Biggar: stiffened feathers formed a knot of circles which stood on the front of the crown. The jacket of her black suit was covered with flowers beautifully worked in wool. Gay woollen embroidery is always a good way of providing a lightening touch on a dark winter suit.

H.E. the Governor has nominated Mr. Tang Shiu-kin, M.B.E., as a member of the Court of the University of Hongkong for a further period of three years.

The firing practice to be carried out from Fort Davis on November 7 has been cancelled, and will instead be carried out on November 10.

Fashions At Government House Dance

BILLowing SKIRTS AND LONG WHITE GLOVES

By Rozanne

BILLowing SKIRT, LONG WHITE GLOVES, waved hair, demure air and Madame or Mademoiselle is ready for the Ball. The car rolls up to the entrance and she joins the brilliantly coloured throng walking up the Hall, at the top of which she is greeted by His Excellency Sir Geoffrey and Lady Northcote.

Some little bird must have spoken and stop press news must have said that Lady Northcote was to wear stately brocade, for among the gay crowd I saw many who had chosen this lovely material, surely a subtle compliment to Hongkong's First Lady. Dame Fashion has been most kind in giving us so many varieties of this beautiful material.

Mrs. N. L. Smith, just back from her home with daughter Rachel, wore a really outstanding frock of brocade in the loveliest shade of blue. Like the words of a popular song I wished for the wings of a dove, for if frocks are like that there, there would I be.

GOLD AND GREEN

Gold leaves on the palest of green brocades patterned Mrs. Holy's gown, which was given a slightly military air by stiffened epaulettes. Mrs. Oswin's silvery white brocade had an attractive pattern of little gold and orange nasturtiums, which made me wonder why these gay flowers had not been thought of before by dress designers. Like an Egyptian night was the deep silver-flecked blue brocade worn by Miss Anne Taylor, while a fascinating Japanese garden grew on Miss Sheelina Mackichan's aquamarine brocade.

HELD BY MAGIC!

"Willpower forward" is obviously the cry of the new strapless ball dresses, and I am sure that you will agree with me that they are rather thrilling. Mrs. Elliot wore a close-fitting model in black velvet with a seductive heart-shaped bodice apparently kept up by black magic. Mrs. Claude Barry also chose this strapless style; a tiny shell pink frill bordering the top and an entrancing little bow tying at the neck.

Two unusual half-strap models were worn by Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Millet respectively. The former in gold lame, had her one strap originating in the centre of the bodice and held by a jewelled clasp; the latter was in one of those very new fabrics made from cork, with a blue and white cord to match the merging pattern, leading from one shoulder and knotted securely, in a ring for that purpose, to one side of the back.

GREEK STYLES

Chiffons this year seem to have been designed with an eye to the classical Greek styles; crossover bodices, draped shoulders, soft flaring skirts and wide, saucily fitting belts, all have that note. Mrs. Peck, graceful in the softest violet grey chiffon cut on these lines, wore long grey matching gloves. Greeny blue waves were brought to mind by the flowing chiffon worn by Miss Bunty Drummond, the high back being slit to the waist which was broad and close-fitting. Gold lame gloves matched the wide gold-laced basque of Mrs. Lelsching's emerald green chiffon; skillfully draped shoulders were the distinctive note of Mrs. Tracey's gown in the same material.

The little red flower perched in the centre front of Miss Elsie Berkhart's, coiffure matched larger red flowers on the corsage of her deep green tatesta frock and had quite a provocative look. Entirely pleated was the wine dress worn by Miss Hope Turnbull, cut severely. White gardenias at one shoulder gave a softening touch. The white silk net worn by Miss Collie was strewn with magenta hued velvet spots, and the large spreading skirt was ended with two large bands of the contrasting material.

SHADES OF GRANNY!

The old fashioned waltz showed to perfection the soft lacy cape of black which hung in a most original way from Mrs. Croucher's shoulders. To make it stand out in so graceful a way I feel sure the shell pink lining was of feathers. Pictures of Granny at the ball must have given birth to the charming peacock blue picture frock worn by Miss Diana Dodwell, tiny gathered puff sleeves worn off the shoulders looking most dainty. A large scarlet feather fan held against the black full-skirted gown of Mrs. Walser was most striking, and again we realise why it can be said that fashion never really changes.

A Renaissance touch was in the modelling of Mrs. Lenard's high necked long-sleeved silver lame brocade, and I particularly like the long row of miniature matching buttons on the sleeves. Mrs. Campbell in oyster satin with a slight train and beautiful orchids on one shoulder made me gasp with envy. This oyster colour gathers so much beauty to it in artificial light,

"IMPERIAL ARMY"
WEARY

NO FIVE WORDS COULD TELL A TRUER STORY of summing up an entire situation with such poignant accuracy as it applies to all Japanese, from the warriors who pull the strings in Tokyo down to the butcher, the baker and the candle-stick maker, and then down to the lowest of Japan's soldiers who waddle through the mire of China in quest of they know not what, than the words found in the diary of a dead Japanese officer:—

"The Imperial Army is weary." This all-obvious truth was related in an interview some days ago between Miss Freda Utley, the British author, who recently completed a tour of the Chinese front lines and passed through Hong-kong, and a Shanghai paper. Miss Utley widely-read writer on Far Eastern Affairs, told how she was shown a large collection of diaries taken from the bodies of dead Japanese officers and soldiers recently by the Chinese at Tchan, where the latter scored a victory on the Double-Tenth.

BUT THAT WAS NOT ALL that Miss Utley saw. Everywhere, behind the lines of the Cantonese troops, she saw enormous amounts of captured Japanese war material, great numbers of Japanese flags, machine-guns, field equipment, and other instruments of mass murder. Miss Utley's observations do much to give credence to China's not infrequent claims to victory, and at the same time takes the edge off Japan's continuous crowing over an unbroken series of triumphs since the outbreak of the war.

Certainly, one must feel that the Japanese officer who scribbled, "The Imperial Army is weary," before death overtook him, spoke not only for the Japanese army, but for all of Japan—and his words will find an echo around the world. Nearly eighteen months of fruitless conflict, of wasted fortunes, of dead and mutilated men, of utter failure, is more than enough to make any man, any army, any nation, weary—weariness was Napoleon and his bedraggled army who, finding themselves engulfed in future combat, finally took to their heels and admitted defeat at the hands of the Russians.

SO IT IS WITH JAPAN. The Imperial Army is weary. And it must be a much wearier Japanese army which gathered together its remnants after the defeat which they suffered at the hands of the Chinese troops along the Kiukiang-Nanchang Railway, on the 27th anniversary of the foundation of the Chinese Republic.

It is not only a weary, but a sad, Japanese army which dragged itself along the rough road to Hankow and it will be far more weary in the months to come because the Chinese are more determined than ever to give them trouble on which they had not counted. Just how weary they will be when final defeat faces them, one can just envisage when one realizes how intense the activities of the Chinese guerrilla forces are at present and how more intense they are likely to be in the near future.

AIR MAILS

Imperial Airways' plane will leave Kai Tak to-morrow at 7 a.m. with mail and passengers for London and Australia.

The Pan-American Airways' China Clipper is flying on schedule and should arrive in the Colony on Wednesday about noon. The return trip to America will be made on Thursday at 8.30 a.m.

I GO A-SLUMMING

HONGKONG, NOVEMBER 6th, 1938

By "Victoria Peake"

HONGKONG, with the number of refugees coming into its shores ever on the increase, is a veritable haven of refuge—a land where everything is roses, roses all the way, but beneath this rose coloured surface is a story so filled with suffering and pathos as to cast a slur on the good name of the Colony. I refer to the question of overcrowding in the slum quarters—the East End of Hongkong, which unlike that district in London, spreads all over the island instead of being confined to one particular section of the town.

I went "slumming" on Saturday afternoon and incredible though it may sound, I did not have to go very much off the beaten track before I came upon the most appalling example of overcrowding. It was in the Wellington Street district and I had to go through a dirty, narrow lane to reach my objective. And what a sight greeted my eyes! Houses that by all sanitary rules and regulations should have been condemned months ago, are still occupied. Perhaps overcrowding would be the more appropriate word to use, for each and every flat is so full of tenants and sub-tenants as to make a beehive seem empty by comparison.

And what of the children who are brought up in these areas? For the most part, they are placed at a great disadvantage from the time of birth. Under-nourished and left to care for themselves, these waifs make the narrow lanes their playground. One little mite had a rice-cake in his hand and because nobody was there to watch him this meal was smeared all over the street between mouthfuls!

What is there to be done about the matter? As far as we know, nothing. It is neither expedient nor advisable to do anything yet, to borrow an official expression, as there are other urgent public works to be undertaken, one of which is to put up a new Government House. But let us hope that in the not too distant future notice will be taken of this blot on the good name of Hongkong for it must be called that and nothing else.

Hongkong has been proudly proclaimed the Riviera of the Orient. Perhaps those who made this up were either not aware of the existence of the slum districts or too human to think of them as anything but necessary evils. The problem, therefore, must in the meantime, be shelved!

CORRESPONDENCE CONCERT FOR CHARITY

[To the Editor, "The Hongkong Daily Press"]

Sir,—May I, through the columns of your paper, make an announcement to the public.

The Violin Recital by Mr. Sitson Ma, organised by the Kwangtung Christian Students' Union and the Hongkong Christian Students' Union, previously arranged to be held on Saturday, November 12, in the Great Hall of the Hongkong University, has been postponed to a later date. According to the original plan, the proceeds will be devoted to helping refugee students (preferably university students of two or three years standing) to carry on their studies at Canton, but owing to unavoidable circumstances we regret to find the plan untenable. Mr. Sitson Ma, who was living in Canton, left for Kwangsi after the hostilities in South China had broken out and will not be able to come back in time for the recital. Moreover, the refugee students will not be able to carry on their studies in Canton.

In view of these difficulties, we have decided to make the following alterations. The Concert will be held on Saturday, 26th inst. at 9 p.m. in the Great Hall of the Hongkong University. The artists taking part will be Mr. Ma Sze Wang (Violin), Prof. Harry Ore (Piano), and Miss Elvie Yuen (Vocal). The funds raised will be used to maintain a First-Aid Corps at Changsha, organised by the Y.M.C.A. there, under the auspices of the Kwangtung Christian Students' Union and the Hongkong Christian Students' Union.

The tickets for the Violin Recital will be valid for this Concert. Booking will be continued at Tsang Fook Piano Co. Should any of those who have booked their seats find this alteration inconvenient, they will be refunded.—Yours etc., Mok Kai-wing, Chairman.

Hongkong Christian Students' Union.

"MAKING PETER PAY FOR PAUL"

[To the Editor, "The Hongkong Daily Press"]

Sir,—Isn't Mr. Tang Leang-ii doing exactly what Mr. Percy Chen said concerning Mr. Wang Ching-wel's manoeuvre to pass his opinions off as originating from Generalissimo Chiang? It seems to me to be quite true that the Generalissimo has been consistent in his statements that China will never close the door to peace with Japan on the basis of the respect by the latter of her sovereign integrity. Generalissimo Chiang's statements of June and July are both in line with this policy. However, what is reasonable in June and July, when the Japanese offensive in the Yangtze Valley had failed and at a standstill, was certainly not opportune at a critical moment when Canton was being invested and was likely to fall.

Mr. Wang Ching-wel was clearly guilty of faulty evaluation of the situation in his peace talk, which decidedly cast doubts in the minds of foreigners and Chinese alike as to the ability of the Chinese to stand the heavy strain to which they were being subjected.

WINTER COAT
FASHIONS

Winter coat fashions are on display at Rivelles in the Gloucester Arcade. Tweeds, smooth and nubby fabrics are made into fitted, straight, and novel styles for the winter.

The fur trims are all very new, and fur is being used in quantity on coats and suits this year. Sleeves of fur, large collars and boleros in the various popular furs are parts of these coats.

This is a new shipment and practically the first in these winter garments.

The new chain silver and gold evening bags in this same shop are outstanding in chic and smartness. There are several styles, some with compacts in the bags, others with zippers. These make ideal gifts; they blend with any dinner or evening ensemble.

Chinese alike as to the ability of the Chinese to stand the heavy strain to which they were being subjected.

I, for one, am a believer that, if the Chinese continue their courageous struggle they will be victorious and gain a more lasting peace than would result from surrender at this time.

Hello & Goodbye

—BY A.W. HYER—

Maybe you all were too busy with those elegant dancing parties or buying the ponies new iron shoes with your hard earned pennies, to know that we had some large sea-going steamers and airliners depositing and removing visitors and residents from our shores!

Now, after being sadly flattened and squashed in some of the hells, we are inflated and set to let you know about the other man, Pan-American Airways.

STRAINING AT HER ropes the Philippine Clipper was all-set for take-off on Thursday at 8.30 a.m. to Manila and San Francisco. And as your papers have been telling you Mr. Hans Kallstom of Shanghai left little dust behind as he skidded down the Empress of Japan's gangway about 8 a.m. Thursday and boarded a speed boat which landed him at Kai Tak. He was in a hurry to get to Manila!

The Flight Lieut. C. W. Bailey of Singapore and the British Army who visited us for two weeks and took a look at our aviation facilities departed for the same activities, via the Clipper. Seattle and the new Boeing 72-passenger planes which shortly will go into service for the Pan-American Airways Pacific run, are of great interest to this office. Travelling through America and Canada inspecting and gathering data on airports and their equipment will take Mr. Bailey to New York.

But that is not all, his next call will be South America, for he holds a ticket for Rio de Janeiro. Singapore will not be seeing this interesting gentleman before early spring.

Mr. B. Richards, a teacher in Manila, and Mr. C. Bloom, representative of the U.S. Rubber Export Company, were other Clipper passengers to the Philippine city, Empress of Japan.

COMING ROUND Chatham Road on this same Thursday morning we gave the taxi-driver a lesson in fast back seat driving when we spotted and heard the Empress of Japan's foot and saw her progress down to the pier.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Lee with their young son returned from a visit to Shanghai.

Business in the North is still very slow, but it will eventually return to prosperous days, according to Mr. Lee, who is head of his own importing and exporting business. A short visit at home, here, and the family will accompany this merchant on another business call to Haiphong.

The representative in the Far East of Nederlandsche Verkoop Organisatie, Mr. A. Buys came down from his Shanghai office to inspect the affairs of his company. He expressed disgust with business conditions in the north, but was glad to pay a call to familiar scenes and faces here.

New Colony residents who receive a great big how-do-you-do are Mr. and Mrs. T. F. R. Waters and their youngsters. This delightful family have just arrived in the Colony on transite, and the head of the family will take up his duties with the Asiatic Petroleum Company.

Away for fifteen months, and the vacation to the United States was entirely too long, was one of the well-known popular Hongkong matrons Mrs. M. H. Varn returned to the Colony in the Empress of Japan.

The very good looking Mrs. U. E. Lloyd arrived back in Hongkong after a short trip to Shanghai. She will remain here for several weeks visiting friends and will sail via a junk to New York in the new year. From there the attractive lady sets forth for her husband, an Officer in the British Army living in London.

M.V. Gneisenau

SAILING AWAY at 10 a.m. Thursday to the music of the German band and headed for Shanghai and Japan went the very nice German boat and all that German beer the visitors were down to imbibe in wishing goodbyes.

Mr. S. K. Lear Voo who has been spending a pleasant visit in the Colony sailed for home in the north with his four daughters and two sons. The complete large family were sorry to be leaving and left many invitations for northern visits with the many friends here, to see them off.

Stopping by for a call on his return from a London vacation was Mr. E. Wilkinson, of the Asiatic Petroleum Company. This cordial gentleman is headed for a new post in the Shanghai office. His reports from homestead are that business conditions are very good, people are spending money, and he personally doubts that any war is on the horizon for Europe within the next two years.

He enjoyed his short visit to friends and business acquaintances in the Colony and says he would like to remain longer enjoying our weather and peoples. Thank you! Spotting

CUTTING OUR CORNERS we spied several travellers dashing for boats and thinking they had escaped us.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Smith the nice American of Studebaker fame went sailing out for a business call in Manila on the Empress of Japan. He will be back among us in two weeks or so. Much success!

Up to Shanghai a visiting goes Mr. J. H. B. Leckie Interport cricketer via the Suwa Maru on Saturday afternoon. We had just a look see and no conversation with the gentleman, consequently we cannot say when he will be calling back again.

The Imperial Airways have been carting the mail up and down to Bangkok regularly but not so many passengers over the week-end.

The very jolly and interesting Senator Frank L. Fay arrived from London, Saturday afternoon on the Delta chaperoned by Captain H. B. Collins.

The American Senator is on a world air trip, and after a visit of several days he will go on the Pan-American Airways for San Francisco, where he calls a halt. From that city he travels via motorcar with his mother, who will meet him upon arrival on the west coast, to his home in Pennsylvania. The trip is all in pleasure, he does not like to be tied down and has the itching feet to travel, seeing places and people.

We know you will be having a great visit in Hongkong and hope that it will not be your last call.

RECENT WAR SCARE

Mobilisation Cost Now Problem

Out of the recent war scare, European nations are suddenly confronted by the realisation that it has cost them many millions of dollars.

The question beginning to crop up now is, "Who is going to foot the bill?"

The unique proposal has been advanced in France that foreign residents and businesses be subjected to a special tax over a period of years to meet the expense of mobilisation.

France's share of the general expense is expected to run into hundreds of millions of francs. Britain having mobilised her Fleet and special sections of her Army is similarly under a burden running into high figures.

In like situations are Germany, Czechoslovakia and some other smaller countries which took special military measures.

Millions of reservists were called to the colours in various countries involved during the crisis. France alone is estimated to have called up more than one million men to supplement her standing forces of about 700,000.

Germany was popularly reported to have two million men under arms even before the crisis started. Britain called up a relatively small number of men but spent large sums in concentrating her fleet and sending it to strategic points.

Czechoslovakia's mobilisation brought new troops to the colours by the hundreds of thousands. Even such countries as Norway, Belgium and Denmark either called up reservists or held over classes of conscripts which had been due for release.

INFUX OF REFUGEES INTO MACAO

Loads of refugees are dropped out by the motor buses which, after a few minutes rest, return to Shekhi to bring in fresh loads of human beings.

Hundreds attempt to embark upon the Hongkong boats on their arrival but accommodations are always full on the eight vessels now plying between Macao and Hongkong. Although most of the refugees are headed for Hongkong where they have relatives or friends, many choose the remain in the Portuguese Colony where living conditions are cheaper.

Official figures are impossible at the present time, but private sources have reckoned that Macao's population have been increasing at an average of approximately 2,000 per day since the fall of Canton on October 21.

PREVENT PROFITTEERING
Control by the authorities in the Portuguese Colony have prevented profiteering on living necessities. Except for a slight rise in the prices of foodstuffs, the increased difference might be said to be negligible. Certain restrictions have been imposed by the Portuguese on food exports and all dealers are being held responsible for the maintenance of ample supplies to meet the requirements of the Colony.

Outwardly there is little change in the appearance of Macao's population but noticeable crowds can be seen during the day when the streets are generally more crowded than is usual in the Portuguese Colony. Business shops are enjoying a little boom as most of the refugees are replacing their lost belongings with purchases from Macao establishments.

FINE RECOVERY BY NAVY

Eastern Defeated By Odd Goal

(BY ROBIN)

After being two goals in arrears, the Navy staged a fine recovery to snatch two points from Eastern by the odd goal in five, in a First Division League football encounter played on the Club ground, Happy Valley, yesterday.

Despite the fact that half of their regular players were replaced by substitutes, Navy fully deserved their win.

Dixon, at centre-half, proved to be the stumbling block to the opposing forwards. He was ably supported by Honeywell and Ridley.

Of the forwards, Hunt was the live-wire and initiated several fine movements.

Lo Wai-kwen, in the pivotal position for Eastern, gave a fine performance, acting as third back and was also prominent in attacks.

Lee Tak-kee showed a sudden flash of form, and was dangerous when in possession.

Play opened with the Navy attacking Eastern's goal. Hunt hit the crossbar after Lau was beaten. At the other end Suen Kam-shun tested McAlister. The opening goal came after fifteen minutes when Hau Ching-to, Chow and Suen brought the ball in a triangular movement past the Navy defence. Lee Tak-kee received the ball on the run and scored with a beautiful first-timer.

From a pass from Bettis, Hunt scored the equaliser. Shortly after Fisher miskicked and Lee Tak-kee got through for the second goal. Retaliating Newlands placed the Navy on equal terms, and shortly before time Bettis scored the winning goal from a pass from Dixon.

During the last minutes of the game play was very exciting.

The teams were: Navy—McAlister; Fisher, Bellis; Honeywell, Dixon, Ridley; Phillips; Mugillston, Newlands, Hunt and Bettis.

EASTERN—Lau Hin-hau, B. T. Zee, Maw Wah-kwok; Soong Ling-sing, Hsu Ching-cheng, Lo Wai-kwen; Cheng Siu-hong, Lee Tak-kee, Suen Kam-shun, Chow Man-chi and Hau Ching-to.

EAST SURREYS LOSE
At Caroline Hill yesterday, East Surreys made their debut in local soccer when they met South China 'A' in a friendly match, and lost by four goals to one. At half-time South China led 3-0.

The Army side were somewhat erratic in their play, but showed great promise as a team. They were inclined to be rather slow and hesitated when in front of the goal-mouth.

South China fielded a strong side and played a convincing game.

Lau Tau-man opened score after a period of mid-field play. He later registered the second point. Fung King-cheung added the third goal just before the interval.

On resumption Mak Shiu-hon was penalised for handling and Harris made no mistake from the spot-kick. Lai Shui-wing consolidated the position for the Chinese from a penalty kick.

SOUTH CHINA WIN
At Caroline Hill South China defeated 30th R. A. in a Third Division 'A' League match by three goals to one, after leading by two clear goals in the first half.

South China had most of the play and were a far better team than the gunners.

Hon Yau-kee (2) and Wan Shek-san scored for the Chinese. Flinders replied for the gunners.

R. A. S. C. DEFEATED
The Electric defeated R. A. S. C. at Sookunpoo, by five goals to two in a Third Division match yesterday. The electricians proved too good for the soldiers and scored three goals with reply before half-time. After the interval they added two more, Jones reducing the deficit.

ROUGH MATCH
The only Third Division 'B' game yesterday was between Powhattan and R. E. (E), the latter winning by the odd goal in three, after a very ragged and rough game. Play was stopped several times, and at one stage the referee summoned both teams.

One of the Chinese players was carried off the field in the second half. Maddocks and Jones scored for the R. E. and Wang-kwei-on replied for Powhattan.

through the Santos Brothers. Pressing hard, they smothered Altkan, the Police goalie, with repeated shots. No further score was registered.

MIDDLESEX BEAT SOUTH CHINA "B" FOUR-NIL

Three Substitutes Prove Far Too Great A Handicap

CHAMPIONS' FORWARDS WEAK

By ROBIN

A rather scrappy game was seen at Sookunpoo on Saturday, when South China "B", fielding a team with three substitutes, suffered a four goals to nil defeat at the hands of the full-sided Middlesex, in a first division league encounter.

Throughout the game the Army side had the better half of the play, occasional breaks-through by the Chinese forwards being the only variation in the play.

The game was marred by rough play being frequently employed by both sides during the latter half of the game, topping which the referee gave a few disputable decisions, which broke up fine movements by the Middlesex. At one time he consulted the linesman, about a disputable hand-ball, which from the stands' point of view should have been awarded, but he gave the Chinese a free-kick instead. Several of his off-side decisions were also questionable and were resented by the spectators.

Watson, at back, played a splendid game, acted as a fourth half-back when attacking, and he was responsible for several fine movements. The Pearson-Saw combination was pretty to watch, while Grogan was too well marked to be effective.

CHINESE FORWARDS WEAK
Of the South China side Tam, in goal, did all he could in keeping the score down. Lau Wai-pui was the main-stay in the half-back line. The forwards did not make the best of their opportunities, and lacked finish in their shooting.

After 20 minutes of scoreless play, during which period, Middlesex kept the ball in South China's area, Saw weaved through the thick Chinese defence to score the opening goal, a low drive in the corner of the net, to which Tam did without effect.

The Chinese forwards rushed Middlesex's goal. Au Shi-ngok shot at Jackson, the ball passing out of Jackson's hand began to trickle into the goal, when Watson, running up, deflected the near-equaliser for a corner.

A perfect pass from Saw and Pearson scored a fine header, the score at half time being two goals to nil for the Middlesex.

MIDDLESEX FILE IT ON
At the commencement of the second half, Saw dribbled through the defence, shot at Tam, who fumbled the ball was headed into the net by Pearson, for the Middlesex's third goal. Grogan had the next pointer in his hands, but headed into Tam's hands.

The final goal came from Saw as the result of a pass from Pearson, after Grogan having brought the ball down the wing. Score at the end of play remained four goals to nil for Middlesex.

The teams were: MIDDLESEX—Jackson; Watson, Sheehan; Freshwater, Bright, Wilkinson; Grogan, Courtney; Pearson, Saw and Tait.

SOUTH CHINA "B"—Tam Kwan-kon; Leung Pak-wai, Kwok Peng-chung; Lai Wai-pui, Lam Tak-po, Tse Kam-hing; Leung Kam-po, Lau Chung-sang, Au Shi-ngok, Chan Tak-fai and Lee Shek-yau.

The coffee blending and roasting championship of the British Isles was won at the Grocers' Exhibition, London, by Mr. L. H. Wright, of Springfield-road, St. Leonards-on-Sea.

ENGINEERS' SWAMP HONGKONG CLUB
Engineers won convincingly against the Club whom they defeated by 10 goals to 1 at Happy Valley, on Saturday, in the second division.

The ball, with the exception of rare occasions, was kept in the Club's territory throughout the game.

Pelham scored the opener, followed by Fox's "hat-trick" and Thomas further increased the lead of five clear goals at half time.

On the resumption Fox added another goal, Pelham, Thomas and Lowe a single each, bringing the score to ten goals, while Scott obtained the Club's solitary point.

Gifts varying from a few copiers to £5,000, received on behalf of the Royal Infirmary by the Princess Royal at Halifax, totalled more than the sum needed for a new ward and X-ray department to cost £25,000.

WOUNDED CHINESE SOLDIER
A wounded Chinese soldier receiving treatment at a war hospital in China.

According to the Sin Wan Pao, British claims against the Japanese for losses resulting from the war exceed £100,000,000, of which £80,000,000 represented losses in Shanghai alone. The British authorities have lodged detailed claims with the Japanese authorities in Tokyo.

RECREIO DEFEAT MACAO PLAYERS
At King's Park on Saturday Recreio defeated the visiting Macao Tennis Club team by nine clean matches in the senior division. The visitors, however, forced the local players to share the spoils in the Junior Division, the remaining games being abandoned on account of falling light.

As no team of ladies accompanied the Macao players, the games arranged for yesterday were cancelled.

Following were the scores:—

SCOTS AND ST. JOSEPH'S DRAW
Soldiers 2 Down In First Half
Of the two games on Saturday's first division league, Royal Scots versus St. Joseph's was the better game of the two. The final result was a drawn game with two goals each, though in the first half the Saints were two goals in the lead.

The Scots were lucky to force a draw: their final point was the result of a free kick awarded in side the penalty area, five minutes before the end of the game.

The Army had a full side, while the Saints were without two of their regular players, who were on the injured list.

Play throughout was even though in the opening half of the game, the Saints had an edge over the Army side. Dashing Saints' forwards, and a well-balanced half-back line, gave the soldiers much to worry about during the first period.

THE FIRST GOAL
Castillo, back in his old position at wing, after having been tried out in the half-back line, was the outstanding player on the field. He registered the first goal of the game, from a solo run-through. Shortly after this Leonard increased the lead. Score at the interval was two goals to nil for the Saints.

Pressing hard after commencement of the final half Leonard tested Duncan, with a pile-driver. Retaliating, the soldiers scored through Hossack, from a movement started in the middle of the field.

Through a free kick awarded against the Saints in the closing moments of play, Allan scored the equaliser. The score remained at two goals apiece till the final whistle was blown.

The teams were:—St. Joseph's, E. Marques, L. Souza, Bowen, Marques, Hussian, Woo, Castillo, Gomes Leonard, Azim and Alves. Royal Scots:—Duncan, Fraser, McDonald, Bron, Proctor, Clarke, Monro, Fleming, Hossack, Allan and McKay.

A great race—that is perhaps the best description of the Free mantle St. Leger which provided a win for Lucky Lad (Mr. B. Proulx) who was two lengths ahead of Tornado Star (Mr. H. Pih) with Annabella (Mr. Encarnacao) third.

R. SCOTS SHOULD HAVE SHOT MORE

Enjoying most of the play throughout the game, the Royal Scots defeated St. Joseph's by the odd goal in three, in a second division football league encounter, at Happy Valley, yesterday.

The final score does not in any way justify the true run of play, and the score was only kept at a minimum owing to the Saints goal being packed.

MacDonald distinguished himself by scoring both goals. He opened the score in the first half, to which Campos registered the equaliser.

In the final half of play, a penalty was awarded for hands against Marcel, and MacDonald scored the winning goal.

CONSPECTUS OF THE COTTON MARKET

New York, October 14.

The cotton market has strengthened during the past two weeks. When the war danger passed it became evident that a good deal of buying had been deferred during the crisis. Sales of gray goods improved sharply and mill price fixing and purchases of spot cotton increased in proportion. Hedge selling was limited by the diversion of cotton into the loan and by the natural unwillingness of merchants to take on stock at the present high basis and to hedge it forward into discounts, a policy which in the past has been roughly equivalent to suicide by slow torture.

During the current week enthusiasm has been somewhat dampened by the Government crop report. At 12,212,000 bales, the estimate is 387,000 above the last report, and still more above private estimates. The Crop Reporting Board, on many past occasions, has been so successful in shocking the market that it seems to have acquired the habit; and a strong case could be presented to the effect that the market would be more naturally "if it were relieved of official guesses and left to adjust itself to the actual ginning figures. However, fluctuations in crop estimates this year mean little. The more cotton is grown, the more will go into the loan.

In brief, the market position seems to be working out in line with the analysis offered in our recent letters. The price for a considerable time has been below the loan value in most interior markets; and despite the advance it is still below in many places, including most of the interior points in the Western belt. Mid-ling 7/8" at Dallas yesterday was worth 8.13 cents, compared with the loan value of 8.30. At points further back the discrepancy was of course wider. This means that cotton will continue to pour into the loan, and Mr. Garside calculated at the beginning of this week that, including unreported stock, the loan already held probably between 1,000,000 and 1,250,000 bales. Unless the price recovers to a level that will pull the Western markets up to the loan value, the movement into the loan will continue heavy.

SHORT CROP

Subtracting the probable loan stock from the estimated yield, it seems evident that, as a practical matter, we are dealing with a short crop. Cotton consumption is on the rise again, and it says 3,000,000 bales go into the loan, the remainder will be less than 9,000,000 running bales. This indicates that spinners would have to buy cotton from the loan stock.

NATIONAL DOLLAR STEADY

Shanghai, Nov. 5.

With foreign banking interests firmly supporting National legal tender, the local exchange market was firm to-day. The firmness of the dollar, notwithstanding the captures of the Wuhan area by the Japanese forces, is attributed to the following reasons:

1. The fall of the Wuhan area has not shocked the market to any appreciable extent because it was long anticipated.
2. The National Government has been assuming the policy of contracting the issue amount of the legal tender in order to maintain its value.
3. The view is prevalent in the market that British interests will continue their support of the legal tender, no matter where the seat of National Government is located.—International News.

SHARE MARKET REVIEW

Gold Mining Stocks Active

The market has been easier during the week and prices continue to sag through lack of business. Although there has been no pressure to sell most buying orders were completed without difficulty. A decrease is shown in the volume of business recorded for the week. H.K. Bank shares changed hands at $1.345 to $1.350. Trams were wanted at $16 1/2 and Lands at $36 1/2 with sales reported at this figure. Electric changed hands at $57 1/2 and Star Ferries at $72 1/2 with further shares offering at this rate. Dairy Farms were offering at $24 1/2 and Hotels could be obtained at $8 1/2.

With the dullness of the local market interest continues to be centred in gold mining stocks which, in some instances, show further improvement over the previous week. In spite of profit taking encountered early in the week resulting in a recession of prices, the market rallied strongly later showing marked advances in some stocks.

San Mauricos continue to lead at Ps. 1.48, an advance of .38 cts. Antamoks proved rather disappointing and dropped back to 51 cts. Atoks failed to hold at 33 cts and closed at 30 1/2 cts. I.X.L. after easing to 86 cts, made a good recovery and closed at 75 cts. Benguet Consolidated improved 80 cts to Ps.12.80. A quiet but steady market is reported from Manila at the close.

SUAVE METHODS OF BUSINESS

The Japanese are said to be arranging to establish a large business corporation in Canton to absorb the wealth of the province. It is to be similar in nature to the one already established in North China. Japanese financiers, however, consider the social, economic, and cultural structures of South China different to those of North China, hence the first step should, with the help of traitors, be to induce the people to return to Canton so that business may return to normal. The second step is to force the farmers and peasants to co-operate with the Japanese.

ANGLO-AMERICAN TRADE PACT

New York, Nov. 5.

The Anglo-American trade treaty may be signed within a few weeks, writes the Washington correspondent of the "New York Times."

He adds that although the Secretary of State, Mr. Cordell Hull, stated yesterday that the discussions were in the final stages whatever the outcome, it has been established that no doubt remains among the negotiators on both sides that an agreement will be concluded.—Reuter.

RICH WOLFRAM MINES NOW IN JAPANESE HANDS

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT)

Yungyuen, Nov. 4. With Japanese occupation of Kwangtung province, they are in possession of the world's richest wolfram mines, the product of which is an essential ingredient for the manufacture of heavy armament.

Wolfram mines are located in different places along the North River. Other deposits are also found in southern Kwangsi, just across the frontier, and in Kwangsi.

This ore, necessary for the manufacture of tungsten steel and tungsten lamp, is not only abundant in South China but is cheaper and better than the products in Nevada, U.S.A., and Burma.

The best customers since the outbreak of the Sino-Japanese hostilities had been Great Britain, United States, France and Soviet Russia. Before the war, large quantities of wolfram or tungsten were exported to Germany and Japan.

Until recently Japan was a heavy buyer of this mineral from smugglers, as she is engaged in a heavy rearmament programme in connection with the war in China. Considerable profits were made by the Chinese merchants from the sale of this mineral. They bought the ore from the natives

The market opened with prices unchanged for all deliveries as compared with Friday's closing rates.

Throughout the session the market ruled quiet, but steady. Fair demand of rubber for prompt delivery, however, did not influence speculators to operate either way to any larger extent, in view of the uncertainties with regard to the quota-decision to be shortly announced by the I.R.R.C. Consequently only a moderate volume of business was transacted at quoted rates. Towards the close of the session, prices slightly declined by 1/8 cent for all deliveries, due to some liquidation and profit-taking.

Closing tone was quiet

Leading Rubber Brokers in London believe that there is a distinct possibility of a reduction of world-stocks by 50,000 tons at the end of this year. In this event it is felt that higher markets may be confidently expected, even if the I.R.R.C. should decide on a 5 per cent quota-increase. It is also gratifying to note the recent substantial increase of Motorcar-production in U.S.A. as revealed by overnight cables from New York. These bullish factors would appear to justify expectation of a resumption of the upward trend in the near future.

NEW YORK COTTON

After an early period of moderate activity, the undertone turned easier owing to lower Liverpool advices, liquidation and hedge-selling, especially of later positions. The Trade continued to buy nears, but foreign demand for distant was less active and this resulted in a widening of differences. Finally, the market rallied partially on liquidation covering by shorts.

NEW YORK RUBBER

Prices opened lower on lower advices from the primary markets. Most traders are awaiting the meeting of the regulation committee and business to-day was negligible. In the latter part of the session, however, prices partially recovered on indications of an underlying consumer interest.

CHICAGO WHEAT

To-day's market was extremely quiet, with the firmness of corn prices being off-set by heaviness at Liverpool. There are reports of liberal clearances from the European countries. Towards the close, prices firmed somewhat on buying by cash interests and on the Government's efforts to stabilise values.

Pope's Great
Bowling FeatTAKES 9 FOR 5 TO
ROUT INDIANS

An amazing bowling feat by C. Pope, who took nine wickets for five runs for the Police against Indian Recreation Club in the second division, and a not out century by George Souza against a weak Press side, featured Saturday's cricket programme.

Pope bowled six overs and five balls, sent down one maiden and hit the stumps five times, dismissing the Indians for 39, of which 11 were extras! Not one of the I.R.C. batsmen reached double figures.

Souza's 100 was made in his usual brilliant style, scored out of 146, and included one five and 17 fours.

MIDDLESEX BEAT
ORDNANCE CORPS

A hard-fought game was seen at Sookunpoo, when Middlesex met Ordinance in a second league football match, the former emerging winners by the odd goal in three.

Devonshire, at centre, was taken to hospital, after receiving an eye injury in the commencing moments of the second half, but he came back on the field some twenty minutes after.

After leading by a solitary goal in the first half, which Simmons scored, the Middlesex registered their second pointer through Devonshire, shortly after which he was forced to leave the field. But field replied for the Ordinance.

Play was confined to end to end until the final whistle.
